THE Report that has been spread of the Duke of Brunswick Wolffenbuttel's having acceeded to the Treaty of Vienna, proves intirely false; and we are assured, that his Highness has not engaged himself in the least concerning that Treaty

Paris, Aug. 10, N. S. The Queen has been ill of a Fever some Days, but is now on the Recovery. The Dutchess of Orleans was brought to Bed of a Princess the 5th Instant, and on the 8th died.

Hague, Aug. 13, N. S. On the 9th Instant Mr. Finch His Britannick Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Plenipotentiary, and the Marquess de Fenelon Ambassadour and Plenipotentiary of his most Christian Majesty, signed with the Deputies of the States General the Act of Accession of the States General to the Treaty of Hanover. The States of the Province of Holland having under Deliberation the augmenting the Forces of this Republick, and the settling of Funds for the additional Expence; the Provinces of Overyssel and Gelderland have declared their Consent that the said Augmentation should compleat the Troops to 50000 Men; to which other Provinces are disposed to agree, as soon as the said States of Holland have come to a Resolution on this Affair. Yesterday the Marquess de Fenelon gave a magnificent Entertainment to the Ministers of the Powers concerned in the Treaty of Hanover, and to the Deputies of the Seven Provinces; and this Evening he gives a Supper and a Ball; as well on Occasion of the Signing of the Act of Accession of this State to that Treaty, as for the Recovery of the King his Master.

Whitehall, August 5.

Letters from Sir Charles Wager, dated the 11th past, give an Account, that he continued with the Squadron of His Majesty's Ships under his Command in the Bay of Revel, having the Danish Squadron with him: That from all the Intelligence he had received, he judged the Russians do not intend to make any Attempts this Year, their Naval Strength being inferiour to his; they had indeed more Ships than they have yet fitted out, but they could not mann them with any tolerable Number of Seamen, without disabling those already mann'd: The Russians were doing every thing they could to fortify their Ports and defend their Ships; at Revel they had made a new Battery, and lay Day and Night aboard their Ships in the Mole and upon their Batteries, for fear of a Surprize. In the mean time Sir Charles Wager had Liberty to furnish his Squadron with fresh Provisions as often as he pleased.
